

NEWS RELEASE

For Immediate Release October 19, 2000

LIGHTS, CAMERA, STOP..... MOTION.

Lost Boys Studios has just announced that it will be representing the Stop motion / Clay Animation services of Bowes Productions Inc. in the area of Mexico, Central and South America.

"It is a very exciting time for us. Working with Bowes gives us the opportunity to expand our mutual creative horizons. Fresh styles are rare in today's technology driven market. The recent focus on digital tools has left the market neglecting the traditional methods of animation. The blending of our distinct yet complimentary mediums will offer the world an entirely new style. I am confident that when this prospect is realized it will benefit all that are involved." Mark Benard, President, Lost Boys Studios.

Stop Motion / Clay Animation international award winning Director David Bowes expressed; "the decision to join creative talents and technical support is a good business choice not only for both studios, but especially for the client as well, offering the best of Stop Motion, Clay Animation and CGI as one package".

Bowes Productions, a Stop Motion veteran with international status has been animating their achievements for over 12 years out of Vancouver British Columbia Canada and on location. Working with exceptional clients such as Paramount Pictures, Nickelodeon, Hallmark Entertainment and Fuji Television Corporation on feature films and television projects. Commercial clients, to mention a few, include Mc Donald's Restaurant's, Milton Bradley, Mattel, Fisher Price, General Mills and a list of reputable advertising agencies both national and international.

One of Bowes latest creations can be found in the Paramount Pictures / Nickelodeon feature film "Snow Day" starring Chevy Chase, Zena Grey and Chris Elliot. More recently working on the television mini series "Voyage of the Unicorn" with Sextant Entertainment, Pacific Motion Pictures and Hallmark Entertainment.

Lost Boys will be representing Bowes Productions and Director David Bowes to production houses and creative agencies requiring Stop Motion / Clay Animation as well as working together in conjunction with digital compositing and project coordinating.
